ITQ Level 1 and 2 in IT User Skills

ITQ qualifications enable learners to gain accreditation for the practical IT skills they already have, while developing new IT skills too.

Learners can:

- Pick and mix units to build a personalised learning programme
- Login to study at times to suit their timetable
- Collaborate and communicate online with peers, tutors and teachers
- Reflect in an online journal
- Send assessments through an internal messaging system which tracks communication and attainment
- Store their evidence in a personal e-portfolio

Teachers and tutors can:

- Track and manage each learner's progress efficiently online
- Access and assign courses 24/7 to create flexible fit with existing timetables
- Use comprehensive online teaching resources to assess learners' work, which is all stored neatly in each learner's e-portfolio
- Use group communication tools to support peer group learning and collaboration

ITQ and the Qualification Credit Framework (QCF)

The QCF is a new credit-based framework for recognising and accrediting qualifications. Learners are awarded credit for units and qualifications and can study flexibly at their own pace.

ITQ and Foundation Learning (FL)

FL is a framework of credit-based units and qualifications which provide clear progression routes from Entry Level to Level 2 of the QCF. The Level 1 ITQ units are ideal for your FL learners, who can progress to the Level 2 units as and when they are ready.
